

Strategy of the National Courts Administration

2021-2025

National Courts Administration

The role of the National Courts Administration is to help the courts to act in a high quality and effective manner.

We will develop the functioning of courts and the competence of staff in many ways – by training, organising premises and ICT solutions, providing centralised administrative services and allocating resources equally.

This will help to secure the functioning and status of the courts in society. The independence of the courts is the basis for our work.

Purpose

For courts –

facilitator of high-quality justice

Objectives

The status, independence and operating conditions of the courts have been permanently secured.

The National Courts Administration is a reliable provider of administrative and development services to the courts.

The National Courts Administration is a well-known and respected actor in the administration of justice in society.

Themes

Developing the competence and functioning of the judiciary and improving its quality

We will develop the competence, operating models and working methods of the judiciary. We will ensure the sharing of best practices, understanding needs and opportunities, increasing skills and developing digital services.

Ensuring adequate and high-quality resources

We will ensure that the resources of the judiciary are proportionate to the workload. We provide functional and secure facilities as well as modern, work-facilitating tools and ICT systems.

Effective communications

We will raise awareness of the activities of the National Courts Administration and the courts and develop a positive image of employers. We participate in social debate and produce reliable information.

Effective networking

We are active and effective internationally, nationally and within the judiciary.

Provision and development of administrative services

We provide timely expertise to support administrative decision-making. We provide high-quality support services to the courts. We develop administrative practices and smooth processes in the digital environment.

Competence and wellbeing of our own staff

We will ensure the competence and well-being of our staff. We foster the learning will and motivation of our staff.
